

Egyptian Prisoners Released

By MARCUS ELIASON
Associated Press Writer
ATLIT PRISON CAMP, Israel (AP) — Several hundred Egyptian prisoners, clad in thick army uniforms but shivering in icy rain, lined up in this bleak, windswept camp in central Israel Sunday night for their last roll call before freedom.

"They stood quietly in rows as Israeli guards counted them onto 19 buses which drove them through the night to the Suez Canal 275 miles away, across the sands where they were captured by Israeli forces in the June war."

"Some grinned at the thought of home. Some held hands. Some were bewildered. Others were sullen."

"They were almost the last of the Arab prisoners held in Israel. Since Jan. 12, about 4,500 Egyptians have been sent home. The few remaining go on Tuesday."

"I have been well-treated. I've no complaints," said Sgt. Mustapha Zaki Shehadi. "I'm happy to go home. Very happy."

"Few others wanted to talk. They shrugged and were silent, apparently fearing to endanger their freedom."

"Atlit Camp was silent and desolate. It will be closed Tuesday. In the last 25 years it has held Italian, illegal Jewish immigrants, Israeli underground fighters and Egyptian prisoners from three wars."

For some of the Egyptians captured in June it was their second time behind the Atlit wire in 11 years.

Sunday night gates were open. Clothes, blankets and pajamas were thrown near the barbed wire, thrown there by prisoners in joy as they packed their few belongings.

The camp commandant, Lt. Col. Ze'ev Bashan, 40, was visibly moved as he watched the Egyptians board the buses.

"Sitting at a desk adorned by two small statuettes of an ancient Pharaoh carved by the POWs, he said: 'Some of them are going back to an uncertain future. Some will be court-martialed, I'm sure. Maybe Cairo fears the others will tell what really happened in the war. It's difficult to tell what they feel about it. I hope they'll tell their people who the Israelis really are.'"

President Rutherford B. Hayes' wife was nicknamed "Lemonade Lucy" because she did not permit alcoholic drinks to be served at official parties in the White House.

Appointment of Walther Held Illegal

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court upheld today a Pulaski Chancery Court ruling that the Arkansas Senate's appointment of Glenn F. Walther to the state Public Service Commission as null and void.

The Senate appointed Walther to the position last Feb. 9, contending that Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller had not filled a vacancy on the commission within 20 days after the vacancy existed.

The court upheld the county court in a 5-2 decision, with Justices John Fogleman and Conley Byrd dissenting.

The vacancy was created Jan. 14, 1967, when the term of Dan Stephens expired. Stephens had been appointed by former Gov. Orval Faubus to fill the unexpired term of John R. Thompson, who resigned from the commission in July 1966 to become general counsel for the state Highway Department.

Rockefeller appointed Jerry K. Thomasson to the position shortly after the Senate appointed Walther.

One day later the Senate passed a resolution reaffirming its action, and on Feb. 13 formally rejected the appointment of Thomasson.

The matter was taken to court in a taxpayers suit and Rockefeller subsequently appointed Robert Downie to the commission. Downie has served since then. Thomasson now heads the Employment Security Division.

The majority opinion, written by Justice Paul Ward, said it found no merit in Walther's argument that Act 417 of 1947, which sets rules on appointments, applied only to honorary boards.

Both Byrd and Fogleman wrote minority opinions. Byrd said the majority's construction of the act "does violence to both plain language of the act and the underlying practical reasons for its passage."

Byrd said that under the court's decision, the governor could nullify the Senate's right of confirmation of many appointees by simply waiting until after the expiration of the 60-day regular session before making his appointments.

The high court also affirmed Chancery Court in Washington County in a ruling involving the use of a trade name.

The lower court enjoined Clyde Campbell University Shop in Fayetteville from using the word "University" in its title. The firm began the business of selling men's clothing Aug. 15, 1966.

A suit contesting use of the word "University" was filed in September 1966 by Campbell-Bell, Inc., which had been doing business as the University Shop for six years prior to that time.

Whitbeck Is Shocked at YDA Choice

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Frank Whitbeck, a Little Rock insurance executive, said Sunday night it was "rather a shock" that the Young Democrats had indicated he was their overwhelming choice for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination this year.

The Young Democrats said Friday that Whitbeck had received 53.8 per cent of the vote in a poll conducted by the Democrat Report, the organization's newsletter.

Whitbeck, 51, said he had been out of the state and did not find out about the poll until Sunday.

"I am very pleased that my young friends would think so well of me because I had no idea I would rank anywhere near the top," he said. "I did know my name was on the list but I felt like it was just a gesture of courtesy."

The Young Democrats did not say how many persons voted in the poll but it was announced that former Gov. Orval Faubus finished second with 11.5 per cent of the ballots.

Whitbeck said he felt the poll was not necessarily indicative of the organization's support for him.

"The reaction indicates that they want a fresh face and would like to go along with a businessman," Whitbeck said. "Anybody who has been successful in business would be attractive to young people and they would identify with him."

Whitbeck said the young persons in the state are looking for a new personality, success in business and new leadership. "I would like very much to see a fresh new personality representing the party," he said. "I do feel that it is time for new leadership. You can't re-tread the old and get any enthusiasm."

Several Democratic legislators said recently that the bickering between Faubus and Jim Johnson, the 1966 unsuccessful Democratic gubernatorial nominee, was causing wide splits in the party.

planned a peaceful rally and march late today near the U.S. naval base where the 75,000-ton carrier arrived Friday with the nuclear-powered frigate Truxton en route from Hawaii to Vietnam.

Since then protesting leftist students, have clashed daily with police in Sasebo, Tokyo and other Japanese cities. They claimed that the visits link Japan to the Vietnam war since the ships are heading there. Demonstrations by older Communists and Socialists have drawn thousands but have been peaceful.

The Enterprise and Truxton are the first nuclear-powered surface warships to visit Japan. U.S. nuclear submarines have been calling at Japanese ports since 1964.

The U.S. Defense Department said the ships visited Japan to give their crews shore leave and to pick up supplies. The daily riots several times delayed the start of liberty hours for the sailors, but eventually they got into the city, and no attacks were made on them personally.

About 700 students armed with sticks and rocks battled Japanese police Sunday at the bridge about 500 yards from the U.S. base. Police used tear gas, high pressure water jets and truncheons to turn back the mob.

Handbag Still Woman's Best Weapon

BOSTON (AP) — Filming of the movie "The Boston Strangler" began Sunday, and casting director Marty Richards learned to his regret that a woman still regards her handbag as her best defense.

When one of the woman extras used in a street scene decided to quit during the slow pace of the shooting, Richards followed her and asked her to return.

The woman would have none of it. For good measure, she whacked the startled Richards over the head with her purse.

The movie is being made by 20th Century Fox. It will star Tony Curtis and Henry Fonda, who arrive later this week.

Three South Korean Army divisions and the 2nd U.S. Infantry Division guarding the western sector of the Korean front were alerted to help hunt the Communists in mountainous areas north of Seoul.

A dusk to dawn curfew was proclaimed in three counties and the city of Uijongbu, north of Seoul, to help block escape routes. Seoul's midnight-to-4 a.m. curfew was extended two hours to start at 10 p.m.

U.S. Army helicopters were mobilized to help the search. A joint antispionage operations headquarters was quickly activated to direct the search.

Charles Wilhite of Hope has been named president and general manager of Ashdown Manufacturing Corporation at Ashdown. The company, formerly Ashdown Trailer Manufacturing Company, Inc., was purchased recently by Guaranty Financial Corporation of Pine Bluff. Joe K. McCarty, president of Guaranty, said the name was changed because the firm will expand in to other manufacturing areas. Wilhite, who was manager of M & M Leasing of Hope, will move to Ashdown shortly. A $40,000 expansion program is already under way at the Ashdown factory, which produces flatbed trailers. A group of Hope investors sold the business to Guaranty Financial Corporation, a holding company with several other interests.

Ford Theater Reopened in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ford's Theater has reopened for dramatic presentations more than a century after President Abraham Lincoln was shot fatally there while viewing a play. The historic theater where Lincoln was assassinated April 14, 1865 has been restored to its original condition through a three-year, $2.7 million National Park Service project.

The theater's rededication Sunday ended a century during which it was first padlocked after Lincoln's death and later used as an office building, storehouse and museum.

Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall told the 800 persons invited to the ceremony that Park Service officials "are pleased to rededicate this building as a place for entertainment and pleasure—the purpose for which it was originally intended."

The theater has been a Park Service museum since 1933. A new museum has been established in its basement and the room across the street, where Lincoln died, has been restored. The theater seats 1,700 on the main floor and in two balconies. It has been restored to a gleaming white, with gold trim and red carpets.

The flag-draped box where Lincoln was shot will not be used by audiences at plays to begin Feb. 26. In the box is a replica of the upholstered rocking chair used by the President.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — An organization to train young people in aiding the mentally retarded was formed here Sunday.

The Youth-National Association for Retarded Children, affiliated with the National Association for Retarded Children, hopes to enlist 300,000 people, 13 to 25, to aid the mentally retarded to "get out into society to take part in activities." Another goal of the organization is to create community awareness of the needs and abilities of retarded persons.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MRS. BOBBY JACK TURNER
The wedding of Miss Paula Kay Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Chester Wood of El Dorado, to Bobby Jack Turner, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Wayne Turner of Magnolia, took place at 6 a.m. Friday, January 19 on KTVE-TV in El Dorado.

The double-ring ceremony was performed before an improvised altar of candelabra, gladiolus and palms. The Rev. A. D. Robertson, pastor of the Mt. Union Baptist Church in El Dorado, officiated. Miss Tawanna Payne sang "Because" and "Whither Thou Goest," accompanied by Miss Carolyn Hall at the piano.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white peau de sole and Alencon lace. The floor-length sheath had a chapel train out-lined with lace medallions. The bodice and long fitted sleeves were of lace, and the Empire waistline was marked by a flat bow. The veil of illusion was held by a crown of pearls, and the bride carried a bouquet of white orchids, stephanotis, and fleur d'amour with string smilax. The bouquet was backed with magnolia leaves and apple blossoms, symbols of the states, Arkansas, Louisiana, and Mississippi.

Mrs. Larry Wood, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore an Empire-style dress of heavenly blue peau de sole. The floor-length dress was sleeveless and had a scooped neckline. With it she wore long white gloves and carried a cascade arrangement of pink carnations and string smilax.

Mrs. Billy Hendricks of Magnolia, sister of the groom, and Miss Margaret Wood, sister of the bride, were bridesmaids, and Miss Lynne Wood, sister of the groom, was junior bridesmaid. Their attire was identical to that of the matron of honor.

Tommy Bright of Hope, uncle of the groom, was the best man. Ushers were Ricky Turner of Magnolia, brother of the groom, Mike Turner of Hope, cousin of the groom, and Sherwood Thurlkill of El Dorado, cousin of the bride.

Little Miss Debra Wood, niece of the bride, was the flower girl, and Master Chris Wood, nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Wood wore a two-piece knit of avocado green, and Mrs. Turner, mother of the groom, wore a gold and white two-piece knit. Each had a lavender orchid corsage.

A reception followed in the KTVE-TV studios. The serving table was covered with green net over white satin with brass candelabra and a brass cherub centerpiece filled with pink carnations and white stocks. Mrs. Sherwood Thurlkill and Mrs. Bill Halfacre served. An anniversary candle marked the table where Mrs. Paul Swilley presided at the bride's book.

For travel the bride donned a white silk pique dress with a full-length coat of yellow, navy, and white stripes. She had yellow and white accessories and a corsage of white orchids. After a honeymoon trip to Hot Springs the newlyweds will be at home in Magnolia.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding and reception were Mrs. E. O. Bright and Sherry of Hope, grandmother and aunt of the groom.

The Sudan has an area of 967,500 square miles.

World of Horses

"World of Horses" on NBC Friday night, a special program, was an interesting demonstration of patching together an assortment of subjects into an attention-holding 60 minutes. We saw something of the raising of thoroughbreds, the training of police horses, the techniques of pulling off a stagecoach wreck for a western movie, a champion rodeo rider on a bucking horse and even and English slepchease.

Lorne Greene of "Bonanza" — and who knows more about horses than a Cartwright — narrated in his best platform style.

Television and Radio

By Cynthia Lowry
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "Mission: Impossible" is certainly one of network television's superior suspense series, but the calm and righteous manner in which the superagents commit all manner of misdemeanors and felonies is one of its most fascinating aspects.

Of course, the intrepid agents are always on the right side. But still there's an old TV axiom, backed up by its code, that insists that crime may not pay.

In Sunday night's episode — which was most entertaining, by the way — the agents specialized in elaborate cheating at cards and carefully arranged to have a homicide committed.

It seems that a bad guy had a 14-carat emerald to which was attached a top secret message that some other bad guys wanted.

The "Mission: Impossible" team, with its usual precision, made an elaborate plan that included a wildly complicated electronic device for cheating at poker.

The good guys, of course, won the poker game and the emerald along with it. Then by another elaborate stratagem, they persuaded one of the bad guys to knock off his colleague.

The whole approach of the series is different from anything else on the air. Where the police and private eye shows feature detection work and occasional fights, and the secret agent shows go in for derring-do and frequent fights, "Mission: Impossible" builds its suspense around a meticulous plan. The action comes almost casually along the way.

It should be added, too, that the regulars in the show are all excellent performers, the production is handsome and the scripts, generally, are very good.

INSINUITY IS READING CHRISTMAS LETTERS

Dear Helen: Well, I finally got around to reading all those Christmas letters my friends mimeographed and sent each year. Never have time for the long ones during holiday rush, and it's just as well, because they make me feel so darn inadequate, they'd ruin my Christmas.

Here's the Smiths: their son made the National Honor Society in addition to playing football and being class president; their daughter spent the year in Europe, on the Exchange Program. And the Browns: Mr. B became vice-president of his company; Mrs. B is president of the Cultural League; one son is in law school, the other won a scholarship to Stanford. And the Greens, of golly, the Greens! All four of their kids are knocking off honors like supersteens. And... but you see what I mean.

So here are little ol' inconsequential, plugging-along Mr. and Mrs. Ordinary and family (us!). If our offspring gets a few "B's" mixed with the "C's," we salute to the East. My greatest claim to fame is that I served on the PTA membership committee. My husband hit the jackpot this year—he didn't get a raise, but, happy day, he also didn't get fired during the cut-back.

So what I mean? I'm really not jealous. But maybe you'll pass along a tip to those terribly wonderful people who send out mimeographed Christmas letters. Couldn't they send them in July, so the insecurity they generate would wear off by December? Or maybe they'd inspire us to accomplishments so we also could write Christmas letters...next July.—MRS. Dear Helen: I just attended our 30th year high school reunion, the first time I'd been back to our town since I graduated. What surprised me most was that there were so very few surprises. These people were still doing the same dance steps; they were using the same slang; living up to the predictions in that dull Class Prophecy; keeping insulated against the world with hot air from their closed little groups. I jitterbugged with a few former girl friends for old times' sake, and left early, completely dejected. After 30 years, shouldn't there be some "different" ones among those our commencement speaker commanded, "The world is yours. Go out and change it!" Why, they even looked almost the same. They had preserved the high school image so well they hadn't even put on much weight!—DISILLUSIONED MAN

Dear Dis: Your last sentence is the key, and should make you feel somewhat less disillusioned. Don't you realize, my friend, that the world-changers usually have no time for high school reunions? Your class had its share of grown-fitties and fill-ures. But these people don't come back—for different reasons: they'd be bored or miserable; perhaps both.—H.

Dear Helen: I just attended our 30th year high school reunion, the first time I'd been back to our town since I graduated. What surprised me most was that there were so very few surprises. These people were still doing the same dance steps; they were using the same slang; living up to the predictions in that dull Class Prophecy; keeping insulated against the world with hot air from their closed little groups. I jitterbugged with a few former girl friends for old times' sake, and left early, completely dejected. After 30 years, shouldn't there be some "different" ones among those our commencement speaker commanded, "The world is yours. Go out and change it!" Why, they even looked almost the same. They had preserved the high school image so well they hadn't even put on much weight!—DISILLUSIONED MAN

Dear Dis: Your last sentence is the key, and should make you feel somewhat less disillusioned. Don't you realize, my friend, that the world-changers usually have no time for high school reunions? Your class had its share of grown-fitties and fill-ures. But these people don't come back—for different reasons: they'd be bored or miserable; perhaps both.—H.

PERSONAL TO "LOOSE LIVER AND LOVES IT"

You say you're "in a rut." What's more, if you keep lapping up the sauce, "Loose Liver," you may lose yours—to cirrhosis of...—H.

Hope Girls Class of Gurdon Meet

Letters to the Editor

BRADLEY WANTS
ANOTHER GAME

Editor The Star: Please pass this information on to the Hope Sr. Girls Team.

We would like to extend to your fine team best wishes and at the same time extend to you a challenge to meet us again.

We feel that you have one of the best clubs in Arkansas and our fans would like to see the "Lady Cats" and the "Bear-ettes" get together in our gym. Although our 11th and 12th graders had played 136 games, beginning in the 7th grade, without defeat, we hold no ill will toward Hope for snapping our win streak.

There are several facts which should be brought to light, due to the publicity given our defeat. First, we had won only 76 games without defeat instead of the 90 which the papers stated. Second, our coach attempted to reschedule this game until Saturday night due to the flu which swept our city. Finally, we found that despite winning state two years running and Joe T. three years we received more publicity for losing one game than winning 76 in a row.

Arrangements have been made to provide $100 to cover the Lady Cats expenses over the forty mile trip to Bradley. Also, since the officials did such an outstanding job we will have them down to officiate the game, if possible.

Our fans are asking us, "Has Hope improved since you defeated them 36 points or did they catch you when you were still attempting to shake the effects of the flu bug?"

We feel that both our fans and your fans deserve to see two of the better teams in Arkansas battle in the "Game of the Year." We prefer any night between January 30 and February 3. This will permit us time to publicize this event. Sincerely,

JOE MIDDLEBROOKS

Gamble Makes 3rd Shutout of Season

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

While Detroit's Roger Crozier gives hockey's hardest job another nervous whir, Toronto's Bruce Gamble is turning the same demanding task into a joyride.

Crozier, the former All-Star goaltender who quit the National Hockey League two months ago because of the pressures involved in playing his position, returned to the Detroit nets Sunday night and dropped a 2-0 verdict to goalie Gamble and the streaking Maple Leafs.

It was the third shutout of the season for Gamble, who sparked for the Leafs in last Wednesday's 4-3 victory over the NHL All-Stars and blanked Minnesota until the final minute in a 5-1 triumph Saturday night.

The 29-year-old goalie, who started the season as veteran Johnny Bower's back-up man, capped his busy week by kicking out 40 Detroit shots.

Namath Risks Legs for Victory

By F. T. MACFEELEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — George Blanda and all his teammates on the American football League's West team are $400 poorer today than they think they should be. It's all because Blanda's old Kentucky windage deserted him.

When Joe Namath of the New York Jets risked his fragile legs on a one-yard touchdown smash and put the East All-Stars ahead 25-24 in Sunday's season finale, there were 58 seconds left.

As any pro football fan knows, this is not necessarily decisive. And Len Dawson of the Kansas City Chiefs used only 52 seconds to move the West to the East's 28.

This was the time to call on Blanda, 18 years a pro and the AFL's leading scorer of 1967 on his educated placekicking toe.

Back before his pro career Blanda had played at the University of Kentucky and he knew all about windage. He had missed a 29-yard field goal attempt early in the fourth quarter and took note of how the wind was blowing in the Gator Bowl.

Blanda allowed for it and booted from the 35 what could have been the winning points and the $1,000 winners' share to each West player instead of the $600 losers' share.

"It just missed by a fraction," Blanda noted as time ran out. "Actually the ball went right where I aimed it. The earlier kick I missed was carried to the right by the wind. I thought that the same thing would happen again—but it didn't."

So the glory went to Namath, who came to life in the fourth quarter and carried the East to two touchdowns, and to his top receiver Don Maynard, who are used to such pitch-and-catch connections for the New York Jets.

They shared the most valuable offensive player accolade. If sports writers had voted after the game instead of with three minutes left on the clock, they might have included Larry Garrison of the Boston Patriots in their honors.

A substitute on the East team for Woodie Campbell of Houston, who had to go on military duty, Garrison also was a substitute on the 26-yard pass play which carried to the West 10 and set up the winning touchdown.

Prime receiver George Sauer of New York was covered, so Namath threw short to Garrison, who then scampered and cut down the left sideline on as important a play as their was in the game.

The East's late comeback robbed Lee "Speedy" Duncan of the San Diego Chargers of the role as hero and left him with only the honor of being named the top defensive player. Duncan set a record on a 90-yard kickoff return which gave the West an early 7-3 edge and a lead it held until the final minute.

came up with flawless goaltending performances as the explosive Bruins smashed Chicago 6-0 and the struggling Seals stymied Los Angeles 3-0.

Elsewhere, Minnesota edged Pittsburgh 4-3, breaking a four-game losing streak, and Philadelphia battled St. Louis to a 2-2 deadlock.

In Saturday's other games, Montreal trimmed Chicago 3-1, Boston topped Philadelphia 4-2, Pittsburgh stunned Detroit 8-5 and New York blanked Oakland 3-0.

Crozier, only 25 years old and in the second season of a four-year contract estimated at $25,000 per year, abruptly announced his retirement last Nov. 6, claiming he no longer could stand up to the rigors of the goaltending job.

He reconsidered about a week ago and consented to join the Red Wings' Fort Worth farm club. The diminutive, four-year NHL veteran allowed seven goals in three games for the Central League team before the Wings called him up Sunday as an emergency replacement for flu-stricken George Gardner.

Under NHL rules, he must return to Fort Worth and complete a 14-day stay with the minor league team.

Crozier turned away 24 Toronto shots, but was beaten by Larry Hillman and Murray Oliver in the second period as the Leafs surged to their fourth straight victory and tied slumping Chicago for second place in the East Division race.

Cheevers earned his second shutout with 33 saves as the Bruins snapped a first-place deadlock with Chicago.

Bobcats Split Pair on Weekend

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

Outlasting a slowdown game planned to beat them, the Hope Bobcats held on for a 38-37 win over the El Dorado Washington Hornets last Saturday night at El Dorado.

The win closed out the Bobcats' intra-divisional 4AA schedule with a 2-2 mark, with both wins coming at the hands of El Dorado, a fast-improving club that had subdued strong Fairview 52-47 the night before.

At halftime Hope was in front 20-9, but the cushion dwindled to 30-25 after three periods of action. Finally the Hornets started shooting in the last segment, but their efforts were in vain against the determined Bobcats.

Hope Coach Joe Austin commented that the squad, and Richard Sallee in particular, did an outstanding job in holding Washington's Larry Taylor to five points. Taylor, a leading 4AA scorer, had sacked 34 points in the Bobcats' 65-57 victory over the Hornets back on January 6 in Jones Field House.

Larry East led the Big Cats' balanced scoring attack with 10 points, and he was followed closely by John Henley and Richard Sallee's eight apiece. Ricky Putman was next with six, Dwight Galloway had five, and Wayne Norvell added one. Jerry Hill had 12 points to lead El Dorado.

Aiming to return to their winning ways of December, the Hope "B" Lizards took a big step in the right direction by clubbing Washington's "B" squad 54-24. The Hornets were never in this one, as Hope had a 32-8 lead at the halfway mark.

Improving with every game, Jim Singleton pumped in 19 points to set the curve for the "B" Lizards, and guards Danny Reynolds and Terry Turner pitched in 12 and 11 points, respectively. Melvin Holly led Washington with 14.

El Dorado Washington has a fine Junior Boys team, though, and they overcame a halftime deficit to pin down the Hope Bobkittens for the second time, this one by 44-34. Although the Kittens were ahead at the half, missed free throws made a difference at the end. Nevertheless, Coach Caylord Solomon stated that the Bobkittens still are looking better, and their ball-handling, a crucial factor, has improved.

Athletes Step Into Battle for Control

CHICAGO (AP) — The battle for control of amateur athletics in the United States continues to rage and this time the athletes have stepped in for their part of the argument.

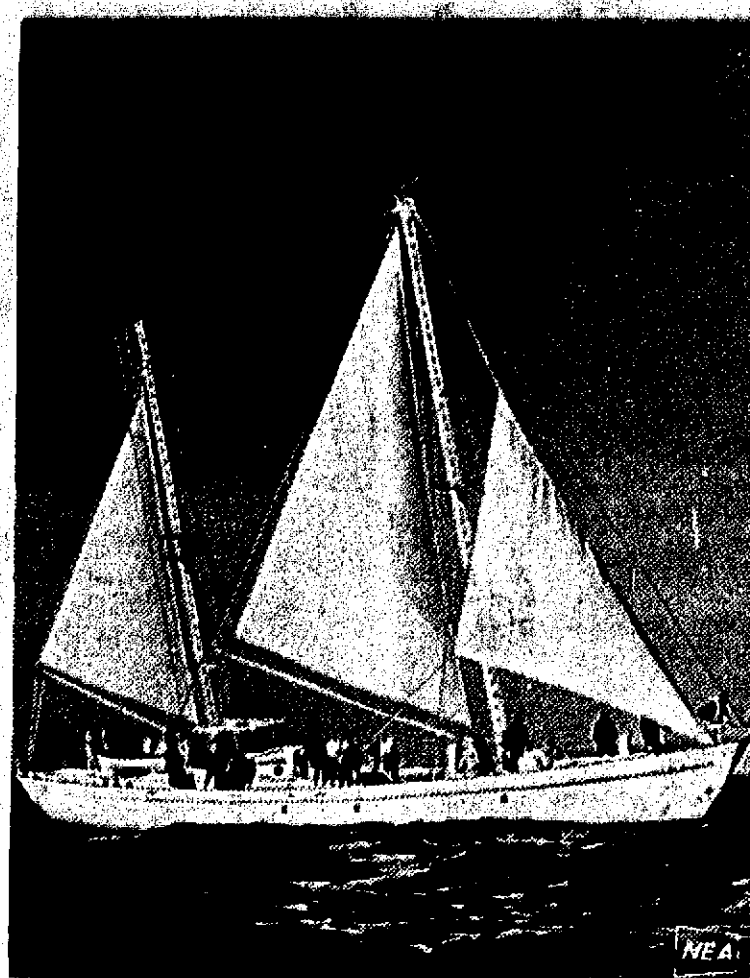

At a special meeting under the auspices of the United States Track and Field Federation Sunday, a group of the nation's outstanding stars warned the Amateur Athletic Union they would not stand for Olympic disqualification.

Last week in the squabble between the AAU and the National Collegiate Athletic Association, which backs the USTFF, the AAU warned that any athlete competing in a USTFF meet in New York City Feb. 9 could lose his eligibility for the Olympic Games.

Houston in Big Upset Over UCLA

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
HOUSTON (AP) — Lucius Allen's wry, impish grin split through the gloom of UCLA's dressing room.

"I just hope Houston wins the rest of their games," said the Bruin backcourt ace, "and we get to play them in the nationals."

"Yes," agreed UCLA coach John Wooden. "I'd like to play them again. They're a fine basketball team." Then, in answer to a question, the normally placid UCLA coach bristled:

"No, it's not revenge," Wooden snorted. "I don't play that way. When I start playing for revenge, I'll get out of the business. As I said, they're a good team and Guy Lewis is a fine coach."

The unbeatable Bruins had just been beaten, 71-69, by Houston's second-ranked Cougars. And they'd been beaten before the largest crowd ever to see a college basketball game, 52,693, in the Astrodome Saturday night, their No. 1 ranking was almost certainly gone and their 47-game winning string was snapped 13 short of the record.

If they meet again this season, it will be in the semifinals of the national championships. And the national championships, the semifinals and finals, will be played at Pauley Pavilion in Los Angeles, the Bruins' home court.

"Yeah, I'd real much like to play 'em again," said Allen, whose 25 points from the outside shooting kept the Bruins in the game against the inspired Cougars, now 17-0.

"Our game plan," said Houston Coach Lewis, "was to keep Lucius Allen bottled up and cut off his passing lanes to his corner men, Lenn Shackelford and Mike Lynn."

The Cougars followed that plan perfectly, with All-American Elvin Hayes and Ken Spain doing the corking job on the 7-foot-1 Alcindor and Don Chaney working the defensive backcourt magic on the lanes. It resulted in a 33.6 shooting percentage for the Bruins, compared with their usual 50 per cent.

Hayes, a 6-foot-8 standout who played, by his own testimony "my best game ever," finished with 39 points, 15 rebounds, four assists and three blocked shots on Alcindor.

A mix-up in signals, on which sanctioned by the AAU and Rev. Wilfred H. Crowley, S.J., president of the USTFF, said his group would not seek to have the meet sanctioned by the AAU.

Jumping champion Ralph Boston, spokesman for the group of athletes who are protesting against AAU threats of disqualification, said, "this thing has been tossed around quite a while but nobody has done anything until today."

Included among those signing the statement were Jim Ryun, world record holder in the mile; Gerry Lindgren, long distance champion; Tommie Smith and Charlie Green, world record holding sprinters; Wade Bell, AAU half mile champion.

Also signing the statement were Jim Grelle, Lee Evans, Richmond Flowers, Ed Caruthers, George Young and Frank Murphy.

Zarley Wins the Kaiser Tourney

By JIM CHURCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
NAPA, Calif. (AP) — Kermit Zarley learned a valuable lesson in five winless years on the professional golf tour.

"You can't let up," said the 26-year-old Seattle pro after blistering Tverado Country Club's new North Course for a 65, seven under par, Sunday to defeat Dave Marr by a stroke and win the top prize of $25,000 in the Kaiser International Open.

Marr, who went into the final round 12 under par, wound up with a 70 for a 274 total to Zarley's 273.

Zarley completed his round 20 minutes before Marr and was 15 under while Marr was making up for a double bogey with three straight birdies on the 16th, 17th and 18th holes.

Zarley had birdied the 18th and Marr missed an eagle by a foot. "That's why you can't let up," said Zarley.

Marr won $15,000 in second place money, more than half what he won during the entire 1967 season.

Gene Littler shot 69 after Saturday's 66 and tied George Archer for third. Archer added a 70 to Saturday's 68.

Each finished with a 276 total and won $7,812. Closest to them was Bert Green with 69-71-71-68 — 279.

Bill Casper, who shot a 65 Friday, scored 71 Saturday and came in with a 76 Sunday for a 287 total, one under par and good for $597.

Arnold Palmer finished a stroke better at 286 on rounds of 70-73-76-69 and won $906.

Muskies Back on Top of ABA League

The Minnesota Muskies are back on top in the Eastern Division of the American Basketball Association.

Beating Indiana 103-88 Sunday, the Muskies broke out of a deadlock with the Pittsburgh Pipers, who didn't play, Minnesota, paced by Mel Daniels' 25 points, have won three straight games in a row.

In other ABA games Sunday, Dallas beat New Jersey 107-97 and Denver walloped Anaheim 112-85.

On Saturday, New Jersey beat Indiana 106-96.

In the National Basketball Association Sunday, Boston crushed San Diego 139-112, New York topped Detroit 115-103, St. Louis downed Chicago 98-90 and Los Angeles bombed Seattle 154-123.

The Muskies outlasted a third-quarter rally by the Pipers to win. Oliver Darden topped the Indiana scorers with 24 points.

Dallas' victory was its sixth in a row, while the Americans had a seven-game streak broken. Charles Beasley led the Chaparral scorers with 25 points. Dan Anderson had 19 for the Americans.

Denver won its seventh straight and Anaheim lost its eighth in a row. Byron Beck led the winners with 27 while John Fairchild topped the Amigos with 18.

Southland Teams Didn't Do So Well

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Southland Conference teams seek to better their intersectional basketball record this week during the end-of-the-semester lull in league competition.

Last week the members were unable to add any luster to their defeat-ridden record against outside foes.

Trinity, ranked seventh in last week's Associated Press small college poll, walloped Houston Baptist to run its season record to 11-4. The other members didn't do so well. Texas-Arlington bowed 93-83 in an overtime encounter with Texas Tech.

Eastern New Mexico ran over Abilene Christian 95-70 and Southeast Missouri beat Arkansas State 80-71.

No conference games are included in this week's schedule which has McMurry at Abilene Christian Tuesday, Lamar Tech at Pan American Wednesday and Kentucky Wesleyan at Arkansas State Thursday.

Genoa Central Winner at Saratoga

Genoa Central won the Saratoga Invitational tournament Saturday night beating Murfreesboro 75 to 59.

Genoa Central's well balanced scoring attack was led by Larry Plant with 27 points. Archie Lynn had 18 and Don Shields 13. Murfreesboro's Bobby Hile also had 27 points and Tom Henderson tossed in 17.

The Dragons worked their way into the finals with a 51-44 victory over Blevins in the semi-finals.

Kirby won the girls division of the tournament by beating Fouke in the finals.

Russell Has Proved Value to Knicks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
DETROIT (AP) — A couple of years ago the New York Knicks won a coin toss from the Detroit Pistons and made Cazzie Russell their NO. 1 choice in the National Basketball Association player draft.

The Pistons fended off the grumblings of their fans and selected Dave Bing of Syracuse, saying he was no Cazzie Russell, but a pretty fair player from out East somewhere.

The Pistons may have actually got the better deal, but Russell proved his value to the Knicks with a record-shattering 42-point performance Sunday that gave the Knicks a 115-103 victory over Detroit.

Russell was the darling of the Midwest as an All-America who led Michigan to two consecutive Big Ten titles and sparked a revival in Wolverine basketball that led to the building of a new $7.2 million basketball arena at nearby Ann Arbor.

Cazzie's 42 points Sunday were an NBA career high for him.

Russell rallied the Knicks from a 52-48 halftime deficit, hitting 17 points in the third quarter and 18 in the fourth, to pull out the victory. The 35 second half points were an arena record, surpassing the 33 by Wilt Chamberlain Jan. 17, 1962. Russell's 42 points surpassed his previous single game NBA high of 34 against Baltimore Nov. 22, 1966.

Detroit, suffering its second straight loss, had taken a four-point halftime lead, mostly on the shooting of Bing, who had 18 points. The NBA's leading scorer was held to two points in the second half as Russell caught fire. Eddie Miles topped Detroit with 25 points.

In other NBA action Sunday, St. Louis beat Chicago 98-90, Boston beat San Diego 139-112 and Los Angeles rapped Seattle 154-123.

In the American Basketball Association, Dallas beat New Jersey 107-97, Minnesota took Indiana 103-88 and Denver walloped Anaheim 112-85. Henderson, Highlanders in a Tie

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Arkansas College Highlanders and Henderson have finished the first half of the AIC basketball race in a tie for first, each with a 7-2 record.

The Highlanders regained a piece of first Saturday night by whipping College of the Ozarks 83-63 behind the 30-point production of Bill Cossey. Jim Haney added 24 points and Jim Canada 22.

Bob Chance scored 30 and Phil Easley 15 for Ozarks. In other games, Southern State whipped Austin College 75-58, Delta State dropped Arkansas A&M 89-73, Ouachita whipped Little Rock University 86-80 in overtime and Philander Smith downed Harding 92-89 in overtime.

Southern State built a 14-point halftime lead and, led by Bill Barnes' 16 points, coasted to victory over Austin College. Three other Muleriders were in double figures, with Jim Deathridge hitting 15.

A&M led Delta State 43-40 at the half, but Delta State jumped into a commanding 59-50 lead in the first nine minutes of the last half. Gene Kirk paced Delta with 27 points and Randy Muse had 19 points for A&M.

LRU led Ouachita throughout most of the game, but Bill Withers sank three free throws and Robert Cornelius hit a basket late in the game to put Ouachita ahead. The Trojans forced it into overtime with Jerry Brinegar hit two free throws for an 80-80 tie. Cornelius and Bob Luelien, who each had 17 points, hit baskets in the overtime. Richard Green of LRU had 18 points.

Marvin Levels' basket with :03 remaining in the game gained Harding an 81-81 tie with Philander Smith, but the Bisons couldn't hang on in overtime. Levels led the scorers with 23 points.

Oswald: "We have commented on the statement by the late Commander Winfield Liggett that he wouldn't care about anything else if he could only make the right opening lead on every occasion."

Jim: "Bridge will never be an exact science, and the opening lead is the one place where you need luck if you want to win."

Oswald: "You can help your own luck if you use common sense in choosing the suit and the specific card you put on the table. Today's hand is a good example."

Jim: "A spade lead will set declarer one trick. A diamond lead will give him an over-trick. Any other lead will allow him to make his contract right on the nose."

Oswald: "It makes no difference which spade you open this time, but the standard lead from an unbid three card suit headed by an honor is the lowest card."

Jim: "It may look like pure luck to find that the spade lead succeeds while the more natural lead fails, but a consensus of experts would pick the spade lead almost unanimously."

Oswald: "The theory is that when you have to make a blind lead against no-trump from a bad hand you try to find your partner's strength. Suppose for example that East did hold three diamonds to the king-jack and five small spades. Declarer with three diamonds to the ace would hold off until the third lead. You would get your diamond suit established but would never get in to cash the last two tricks."

Jim: "Declarer will make it a point to hold off spades until the third lead but this won't help him. He will have to play clubs in order to make nine tricks. When he opens clubs, East will get in with the ace and cash the last two spades."

Oswald: "Declarer might try a trap play here. East would play the king of spades at trick one and lead back a low spade at trick two. If declarer takes his ace then it is up to West to drop his queen and unblock the suit."

THE WELL CHILD®

Important to Keep Calm During Child's 'Attack'

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Nothing is more terrifying to a parent than to see a child in a convulsion. In general, these are of two kinds—febrile and nonfebrile. In the former, there is a fever of 104 or 105 for an hour or two before the onset of the convulsion. In an adult this would simply be called chills and fever. Febrile convulsions are common in children between the ages of 9 and 15 months. They are rare in children under 6 months or over 5 years of age. They may be associated with any febrile disease—a sore throat, ear infection, measles, etc. They are more ominous when they are due to meningitis or brain fever.

Nonfebrile convulsions may be caused by epilepsy, a low blood calcium or low blood sugar, lead poisoning, acute nephritis or a blow on the head. It is important to remember that fever from any of the causes mentioned will trigger a seizure in a child who is subject to nonfebrile convulsions.

Although it is important to stop the attack, it is even more important to remain calm and avoid doing the wrong thing. For example, don't plunge the child into a hot tub but rather give him a lukewarm sponge bath. Don't let him fall out of bed and injure his head during a seizure. Above all, don't try to give him anything by mouth—not even soothing syrup—because he could inhale it and choke or get aspiration pneumonia.

Call a doctor. He may want to give an anticonvulsant drug by rectum or by intramuscular injection. If the child has two or more attacks in a year he should have a complete medical work up, including brain waves (electroencephalogram) and blood chemistry.

Q—How much water should a baby drink every day? I know a 15-month-old child who never drinks water.

A—Everyone, even a baby, needs water. It should be offered to the child once or twice between each feeding, especially in hot weather. Some babies do, however, get all the fluids they need in their formula and the fluids present in their meals. The main thing is to make sure he gets all the water he wants but not to try to force it on him.

Kosygin Gets a Secret U.S. Message

MOSCOW (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson delivered a secret message — probably from President Johnson — to Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin in the Kremlin today.

An official announcement said only that Thompson had met Kosygin at the ambassador's request.

Neither Soviet officials nor the U.S. Embassy would elaborate. But the ambassador's request for a meeting meant he had a message to deliver, and the fact that he delivered it to Kosygin rather than to the Foreign Ministry indicated it came from President Johnson.

It was Thompson's first formal meeting with Kosygin since last Feb. 18, when the ambassador conveyed President Johnson's proposal for Soviet-American talks to limit development of an antimissile system. The Soviet Union would not enter into such talks.

Thompson's meeting with Kosygin lasted 30 minutes.

Postal Note; Vandalism at Vending Machines

You never have a camera when you need one. This morning a dog sat patiently in front of the Hope Post Office door, waiting for his owner to come out. What "made" the picture was this:

Posted on the door was a curt sign: "No Pets." He couldn't read, although he appeared to be trying to—but just plain dog-sense warned him to stay outside. . . an amusing picture for a guy armed only with imagination.

Over in Texarkana there is a Government fellow with both imagination and thoughtfulness. The sign on the Texarkana Post Office door also bars pets, but adds the thoughtful line:

"Except seeing-eye dogs. . ."

The Star needs help from the Hope public.

Vandals are damaging the vending machines which dispense newspapers for us and also out-of-town publications. Last Tuesday, Jan. 16, the vandals even stole one of our new red machines costing $53. Previously the vendors have been damaged and robbed—but last Tuesday an entire machine vanished from Pak-A-Sak Store No. 2 on East Third St.

Obviously we are going to do something about it—and we need the co-operation of the public in furnishing us information. In today's edition we are offering the public a $100 reward for information, and additional rewards will be given the police if their investigation helps stop this vandalism.

A vending machine is an easy mark for vandals, but it represents a 24-hour service to the reading public and its repair or replacement is part of our cost of doing business—therefore the public realizes that vandalism is an unnecessary expense which may eventually be added to our prices. In behalf of The Star and all newspapers maintaining vending machines in Hope we ask the public for helpful information.

$1 Billion Cutback in Highway

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Transportation Alan S. Boyd announced today that $600 million in Federal highway money will be held back during the 1968 calendar year to fight inflation.

The department said this was a five per cent reduction in the level of obligation to states in 1967.

But the federal highway fund is growing each year, and the reduction will put the level about 13 per cent below what will be available this year.

The total obligation level for this calendar year will be $4.115 billion, Boyd said. He described the holdback as a "modest but essential move to combat general inflationary tendencies in the economy."

Boyd had warned the nation's governors last October that the highway program could be held back by as much as one-half.

While the reduction announced today will slow highway construction, carried out by the states, it has no effect on the budget. This is because income for the highway program—mainly from gasoline taxes—will grow in the federal highway trust fund which can be used for no other purpose than highways.

Spectacular Pictures From Surveyor 7

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Surveyor 7 has sent back to the earth a picture of earth-streak laser beams and a series of spectacular pictures whose composite shows the lunar landscape as far away as 18 miles.

Six laser beams were aimed at the moon. The two photographed, came from Kitt Peak National Observatory near Tucson, Ariz., and Table Mountain Observatory in the San Gabriel mountains of Southern California.

Arguments Start for Tax Hike

By EDMOND LEBRETON

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration officials face the task of convincing an economy-minded Congress that a proposed spending increase should not stand in the way of a tax hike.

Top officials are expected to argue today—when the House Ways and Means Committee once more takes up the tax boost proposal—that a $10.4 billion spending increase is essentially earmarked for Vietnam and domestic programs over which the administration has no control.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler and Budget Director Charles L. Schultze will renew Johnson's case for a 10 per cent income tax surcharge before the tax-writing committee.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., has let it be known in advance, however, that the committee does not intend to decide on taxes until it has had time to study thoroughly the budget for coming fiscal year beginning July 1.

The spending program is slated to be presented to Congress a week from today.

The administration spokesmen are expected to bear down hard, in their arguments before the committee, on what they term a threat to the dollar in international markets. If U.S. budget deficits get out of hand, backing them is Federal Reserve Chairman William McChesney Martin Jr., one of the original proponents of a tax increase and spending cuts.

In the interlocking tax-economy-international finance discussions, "old" comes to the floor Tuesday when the House Banking Committee opens hearings on a bill to eliminate the requirement for a 25 per cent gold cover on federal reserve notes.

This would free about $11 billion to meet foreign claims against the dollar, thus supporting U.S. currency in the international markets.

The Ways and Means Committee begins hearings Feb. 5 on other administration proposals for improving the U.S. balance-of-payments situation.

Administration sources reported over the weekend that Johnson's upcoming budget will offer less of a stimulant to the economy than the President's two previous budgets.

These sources said the budget will show a $2 billion deficit on a national income account basis — the bookkeeping system that economists consider the best guide to the impact of federal spending on the economy.

If the income account runs a deficit the government is priming the economy. That deficit is expected to reach $10.5 billion during the current fiscal year ending June 30.

Police in the Wong Place at Right Time

BOSTON (AP) — George Yee,

owner of the Foon Wong Restaurant, told police the same man came in last Wednesday and Thursday, ordered some fried rice and other Chinese food, ate it, then pulled a knife and robbed him.

Detectives pretended to be customers Friday night but the robber didn't appear.

However, police were in the Wong place at the right time Saturday as the suspect walked in, ordered some Chinese food, ate it, then pulled a knife and tried to rob Yee.

Detectives arrested the suspect on robbery charges. Police said Edward O'Mara, 31, of South Boston, would appear in South Boston District Court.

Heart Patient Dies; Doctors Hopeful for Future Transplants

By WILLIAM C. HARRISON

AP Science Writer

STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Kidney failure, liver failure and other complications killed Mike Kasperak on the 15th day after his diseased heart was replaced. But doctors believe his experience will help future patients.

Kasperak, 54, died at 1:43 a.m. Sunday. "We think that we are in the process of making observations of tremendous importance to other possible (heart) recipients and to the medical community as well," Dr. Norman E. Shumway told newsmen afterward at the Stanford University Medical Center.

Kasperak's substitute heart, taken from the body of Mrs. Virginia White, 43, after she succumbed to a stroke, apparently functioned well to the time of his death.

Dr. Shumway, who headed the transplant team, said that "what should be emphasized is that during this time he survived a fantastic galaxy of complications which we have seen before in other kinds of cardiac patients, but never in such profusion."

"We think that because of his normal cardiac action, he was able to survive first of all renal (kidney) failure, then hepatic or liver failure and then following this three major operations, all of which were done, of course, during the time that his circulation was moved by a transplanted heart," Dr. Shumway said.

"We feel that any one of these complications I mentioned would have been lethal had it not been for the cardiac transplant," he said. One of Britain's leading heart specialists, Dr. Donald Ross, commented in London: "It is not surprising that Mr. Kasperak died. But I am amazed that they have been able to keep him alive so long."

Ross, chief surgeon at the National Heart Hospital, said complications of internal bleeding alone would account for Kasperak's death—as for many other deaths following open heart surgery.

Mrs. Ferné Kasperak, herself a heart patient, received sedation after Dr. Shumway told her of her husband's death. She was secluded on her own doctor's orders.

Kasperak, a retired steelworker who lived at nearby East Palo Alto, was a terminal case when he entered the hospital.

Transplant in South Africa Doing Fine

CAPE TOWN, South Africa

(AP) — The world's only surviving heart transplant patient continued in good condition today, Groote Schuur hospital reported.

Phillip Blaiberg's wife said he asked for a champagne party when he is released from the hospital. The doctors expect to let him out next month if he has no setbacks.

Blaiberg received history's third heart transplant 20 days ago.

The widow of the man who donated the heart, Dorothy Haupt, arrived in Durban Sunday for a vacation.

"It's so nice to be here, to get away from the memories awhile," she said. "Now I am glad it's all over and Dr. Blaiberg is getting along so well."

The pioneer heart transplant surgeon, Dr. Christiaan Barnard said he hoped American doctors are not discouraged by the death of Mike Kasperak and would continue their work.

Grenade Tossed Into Theater

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) —

A tear gas grenade was thrown into a theater Sunday night as several hundred moviegoers were watching "To Sir With Love," a film about a Negro teacher and white pupils in Britain.

The Broadmoor Theater emptied rapidly as the customers, coughing and gasping, fled out the exits. The theater was shut down, pending complete elimination of the lingering fumes.

Jan. 5 with a heart three times its normal size and failing, doctors said. They told him of the dangers of the new transplant operation but recommended it as his only hope. He agreed to it and became the world's fourth patient to get another person's heart.

Crash Blamed on Federal Requirement

Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal requirement that pilots rehearse emergency landings with power out in both engines on one wing is blamed by a congressman for the March 1967 crash of a jet airliner that killed 19 persons.

The National Transportation Safety Board said in a report issued today that the two left engines on the DC8 jet were muzzled as it approached the New Orleans, La., airport. The board blamed the pilots for allowing the huge jet to slow down too soon to reach the runway on the remaining engines.

"I can't accept that," said Rep. Fletcher Thompson, R-Ga. He said the single-wing landing procedure put the pilots in a dangerous position and called the training maneuver absurd.

The Federal Aviation Administration has temporarily lifted the training requirement. Thompson says he will battle any renewal.

Thomas A. Basnight Jr. of the Air Line Pilots Association said in another interview that the maneuvers were "really of little value of no value."

Thompson, a pilot in two wars, said double engine failure had never occurred in a commercial crash, yet the practice landings had taken more than a score of lives.

"It's absurd to endanger the crew and the people on the ground," he said. "It just isn't necessary."

Nine Juda, Wis., schoolgirls staying in the motel on their senior class trip died in an inferno of jet fuel as the airliner exploded and washed their rooms with flame. Four other persons, including a child asleep in his bed, died in the plane's path.

All six men aboard the Delta Air Lines jet were killed in the night-time crash last March 30. Among them was an FAA inspector.

The half-power landings have been required by the FAA in the past both to obtain a pilot's certificate and to pass refresher tests. They have been suspended until May pending an FAA study.

The safety board's official report said the cause of the crash obviously "lies in the human element." It blamed a number of factors, including fatigue from too much training and the relaxed atmosphere between the experienced flier at the controls and his fellow pilot acting as instructor.

Investigators said both left engines on the DC8 jet had been cut back and were idling uselessly. The report quoted instructions to keep air speed at 190 miles an hour but said it had slipped to about 156 miles an hour when the plane dipped out of control.

The board said the instructor lowered the landing flaps on his own initiative too early in the airport approach. The plane slowed, a tired pilot failed to notice and keep the power up, and the instructor failed to intervene in time, the safety board said.

The fatal crash was at least the third to occur in the United States and Canada while pilots practiced landings with two engines muzzled, aviation experts said.

LBJ's Peace Bid Called 'Insolent'

By BOB HORTON

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen.

Robert F. Kennedy has called anew for a halt to U.S. bombing of North Vietnam—a hall military sources contend Hanoi would use for a massive resupply operation.

Kennedy, the New York Democrat who has opposed aspects of President Johnson's Vietnam policy, said Sunday the United States should halt the bombing in an effort to spur peace talks.

Pentagon sources reported meanwhile military officers are gathering evidence from U.S. reconnaissance flights that they say suggests North Vietnam plans to take advantage of even a brief pause in the bombing to resupply hard-pressed units in South Vietnam.

While Kennedy urged a halt in bombing, Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., opposed it and argued: "We don't dare to go to any conference table strictly on a fishing expedition. That is totally irresponsible."

His comment referred to Kennedy's statement that recent peace feelers by North Vietnam represent "an opening—I think we have to accept that." Kennedy specifically mentioned an assertion by Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh that Hanoi will talk if U.S. bombing and other acts of "aggression" are stopped.

Johnson's State of the Union pledge that bombing would stop if North Vietnam agreed not to take military advantage of the pause was rejected as "insolent" Sunday by the official North Vietnamese newspaper Nhan Dan.

Another critic of Johnson's policies, Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said a "negotiated settlement" remains the only way to end the war. And Michigan Gov. George Romney, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, said the United States should not be "stiff-necked" about pursuing North Vietnam's latest hint of peace talks.

Kennedy and McGee appeared on a special CBS television program, Fulbright on NBC's "Meet the Press" and Romney on ABC's "Issues and Answers."

Military men said they believe a pause is being weighed by the White House with the approach of the Vietnamese Tet, or lunar new year holiday which this year begins Jan. 30.

Last year air attacks were stopped during the traditional holiday period.

Police Grab Nude Youth

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — Police said they arrested a 14-year-old youth Sunday as he perched nude on a rock in Gregory Canyon shouting letters of the alphabet.

The policemen said the youth was spotted on the rock about 200 feet up one side of the canyon. The officers said they climbed up behind him and grabbed him as he was about to jump.

They recovered his clothes nearby and took him to a hospital where a doctor administered a tranquilizer and placed him in a straight jacket.

Hospital attaches said his only response to questions was "on a trip, acid an."

There was no identification in his clothes but police later identified the boy as a pupil at a junior high school.

Apparently There Will Be No More Vietnam Holiday Cease-fires

Associated Press

cease-fires seem on their way to becoming another casualty of the Vietnam war.

The South Vietnamese government announced Sunday it was cutting 12 hours off the 48-hour truce it had ordered next week for Tet, the lunar new year festival. It was one more example of the growing distaste with which the Saigon government and its allies view the traditional pauses in the fighting.

The allied truce will be the shortest cease-fire of the war for Tet.

Military officials always have opposed the truces on the ground that the Communists invariably use the pause in the fighting—and especially the halt in the aerial bombing—to shove more men, arms and supplies onto the supply trails to South Vietnam.

The military men also point out that each cease-fire has been followed by major battles, proof that the Communists use the cease-fire periods to resupply and redeploy their forces.

Some large American operations also have come immediately after cease-fires, leading some observers to draw the same conclusion about the allies.

The allied military commands also say the number of incidents during the cease-fires has become so great that during the New Year truce there were more casualties than during a normal two-day period.

But the military men have had to bow to political considerations. There was always hope that perhaps the truces could be extended, and that peace talks might develop.

Now even the civilian officials and diplomats who used to support the cease-fires as political necessities refer to them as meaningless.

"They have been cease-fires in name only," one American official said recently.

Another said the curtailment of the Tet truce was "in keeping with the principle that you give the enemy as little opportunity to infiltrate men and arms into South Vietnam as possible."

The truce period was apparently cut because captured Communist documents showed the enemy planned a massive effort at Tet to strengthen his forces, especially in the northern areas of South Vietnam.

The South Vietnamese government, always the hawk when it came to cease-fires, was even more reluctant late last year after the Viet Cong announced in November it would observe three-day cease-fires at Christmas and New Year's, and a seven-day halt in the fighting at Tet.

Saloon took a full month to make up its mind on how long its cease-fires would be. It gradually decided on 24-hour truces at Christmas and at New Year's and 48 hours at Tet.

The New Year's truce was extended to 36 hours after President Johnson met with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu and Pope Paul VI.

Korean Reds Invade Seoul, Six Killed

By K.C. HWANG

Associated Press Writer

SEOUL (AP) — About 30

North Koreans invaded Seoul Sunday night in a bold attempt to break into the presidential palace and assassinate high government officials. Six Reds and six South Koreans were killed by noon today.

Police searched for more than 20 North Koreans still at large. It was the first major clash inside the capital since the 1953 Korean armistice.

The fighting began when the Communists, in civilian garb, fatally machine-gunned Police Chief Choi Kyoo-shik when he challenged them less than a mile from the mansion of President Chung Hee Park.

The Reds then hurled grenades at four passenger buses, killing three civilians and injuring two others. Two more civilians were killed in subsequent shootings.

Police quickly deployed in the general area, killed five Communists and captured one. Another Communist who was captured was killed when a grenade

Big Planes Pound Cong Positions

By GEORGE ESPEY

Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Waves of big U.S. Air Force B52 strategic bombers pounded suspected North Vietnamese positions in the embattled Khe Sanh Valley Monday as fighting died down to only a few rounds of enemy mortar fire.

The huge eight-engine Stratofortresses struck four times in 24 hours around the big U.S. Marine combat base at Khe Sanh that guards the northwest approaches from the demilitarized zone and Laos into South Vietnam.

The bombers dropped their loads of up to 50,000 pounds of explosives each on suspected North Vietnamese troop concentrations, staging and storage areas in a wide area ranging from three miles southeast of Khe Sanh to 15 miles north of the base.

In addition, Air Force, Marine and Navy fighter-bombers flew more than 50 strikes Sunday in support of hard-pressed allied forces who for two days beat off brutal mortar, artillery and ground assaults.

Military officials ordered newsmen to stay away from the area. But one who did get a glimpse of the main Khe Sanh base, Associated Press photographer Dang Can Phuoc, said Communist rockets left some Marine bunkers and huts in rubble and smoke blanketed the entire camp. The allied strongpoint guards the northwest approaches to South Vietnam from Laos, where the North Vietnamese troops are believed to group up.

U.S. officers in Saigon said the North reported 15 Marines killed and 65 wounded in the fighting Saturday and Sunday. The South Vietnamese command said 12 militiamen were killed and 25 wounded in repulsing an attack on Huong Hoa, a district headquarters four miles southwest of Khe Sanh.

U.S. officers said the Marines killed 103 North Vietnamese, while the militiamen at Huong Hoa reported 45 of the enemy killed.

Just before fighting tapered off, a Marine A4 Skyhawk was shot down by North Vietnamese ground fire while dive-bombing enemy positions 2½ miles north of Khe Sanh. The pilot bailed out and was rescued. It was the 225th U.S. plane downed in combat over the South.

The North Vietnamese offensive began Saturday when enemy rockets crashed through the fog into the Khe Sanh base. Several Leatherneck huts were leveled and two Marine helicopters were damaged on the ground.

The Reds then launched mortar and ground attacks on three strategic Marine hill positions, overlooking Khe Sanh, Huong Hoa and three Marine Combined Action Platoons in the town of Khe Sanh. None of the outposts was overrun. The Lang Ve Special Forces camp also was mortared, but there were no casualties.

Some enemy rockets cratered the runway of the airfield at Khe Sanh, but C130 cargo planes were able to land after the attacks. The North Vietnamese also fired some 140mm rocket rounds into the Marine outpost of Camp Carroll but there was no report on casualties or damage there.

Urges Youths Against War to Go to Prison

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) —

The senior minister of the First Unitarian Society of Minneapolis urged Sunday that young men who oppose the Vietnam war go to prison rather than betray their consciences.

The Rev. Robert S. Lehman called the war "ugly, shameful and unacceptably destructive." He told his congregation he would stand beside any individual who sincerely opposes the war and the draft.

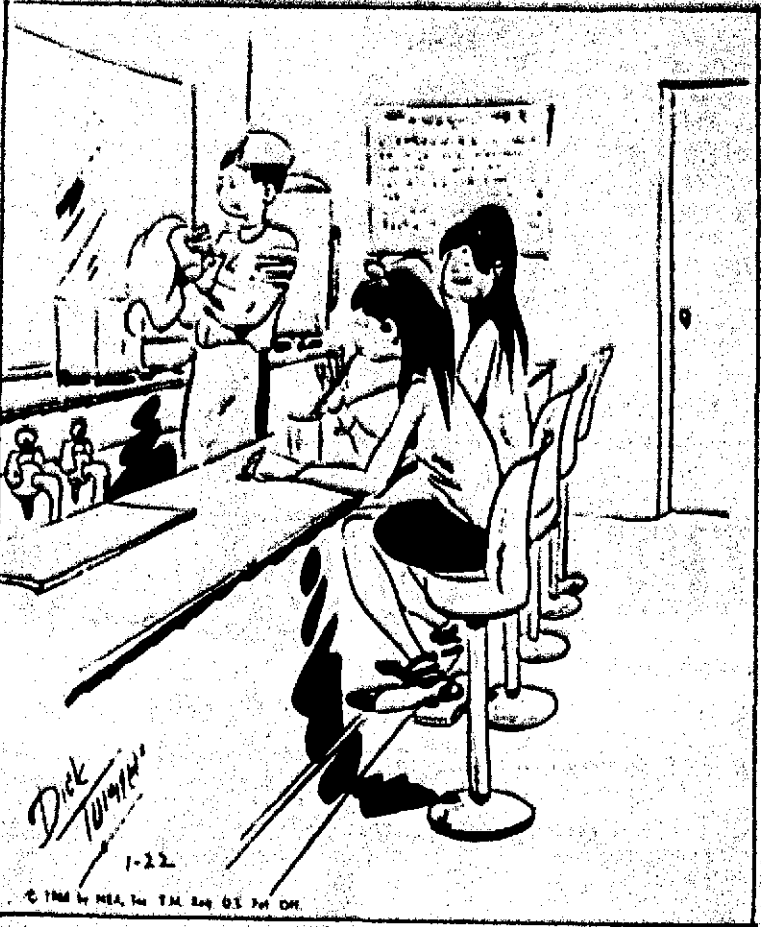

"It is better for a man, I must believe, to serve a prison term or even to suffer exile than to live the rest of his days with the knowledge of having betrayed his own integrity," the minister said.

Hayes Starred for Both Pro Bowl Teams

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP)—In the voting for Back of the Game in the Pro Bowl, one ballot went to Bob Hayes of the Dallas Cowboys.

The voter said the explanation was simple: "Hayes starred for both teams."

It was hard to argue against the theory. Playing for the East in Sunday's National Football League All-Star affair, Bullet Bob caught six passes for 84 yards, the longest for 45 which set up an East touchdown.

Hayes also punted for the East which proved invaluable for the West. His first boot was high enough but it only traveled six yards.

Bob improved on the next one. It sailed up and out 14 yards. Each time the West cashed in for touchdowns.

Hayes, it must be hastily noted, can't be faulted. He hadn't booted a football since he played in high school until he was pressed into punting service in practice for the Pro Bowl.

Coach Otto Graham wanted to use the New York Giants' kicker, Ernie Koy, but Koy came up with a bad ankle. Hayes in practice was the best on the squad.

The West defeated the East, 36-20, in what must be described as a fun game, at least for the 53,289 who saw it in person, along with a national television audience.

As often happens in all-star games with squads by necessity hastily assembled and coached, there was something less than perfection.

The rival quarterbacks, Johnny Unitas of Baltimore and Los Angeles' Roman Gabriel, for the West, and Don Meredith of Dallas and Fran Tarkenton of the New York Giants, kept the action lively.

Mel Farr of the Detroit Lions executed a dazzling, diving, finger-top catch for a touchdown on a 39-yard throw from Gabriel. Tarkenton, reverting to rambling, scrambling Fran, uncorked a throw aimed at Washington's Jerry Smith. But Chicago's Richie Petitbone for the West hauled it in on his own 30 and rushed it back 70 yards for a touchdown.

There was an 80-yard East march to a touchdown that had its oddities. On a fourth and four in midfield, Hayes punted into the end zone.

But officials said the West had 12 guys on the field. It was penalized and the drive continued.

The West coaches even today have not figured who, if there was one, the 12th man was.

Moments later Meredith passed and Green Bay's Willie Wood stepped in for an interception. Instead, he tipped it up in the air and it dropped into the hands of the surprised Hayes on the seven.

Things like this make All-Star things entertaining. After a long season, who needs perfection?

Miss Fleming, Tim Wood Lead U.S. Skaters

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP)—National champions Peggy Fleming and Tim Wood led the U.S. Olympic Figure Skating Team to New York today for uniform fitting.

"I hope they fit," said the 19-year-old Miss Fleming, who turned in an almost perfect performance Saturday night in winning her fifth consecutive women's national title.

"I remember 1964," said the pretty dark-haired girl from Colorado Springs, Colo. "They had to take so many inches in it was a mess. The uniforms just hung on us."

The way Miss Fleming skated at the four-day U.S. Figure Skating Championship s h i p s here last week, it probably wouldn't make any difference if she skated draped in a barrel. But women's vanity must be served and perky Peggy wants to be dressed like the gold medal winner everybody expects her to be.

The U. S. hasn't won a gold medal in figure skating since 1960, when Carol Heiss and David Jenkins were twin U.S. Victors. The 1961 Brussels airplane crash wiped out the American team in 1961, after Miss Heiss and Jenkins retired.

The first three-place winners at the nationals in senior ladies, senior men and senior pairs automatically made both the Olympic team and Uncle Sam's World team. The Winter Olympic games start Feb. 6 in Grenoble, France, the World Championships, Feb. 27 in Switzerland.

Joining Miss Fleming on the women's team are Albertina Noyes of Arlington, Mass., second in the singles for the fifth straight year, and Janet Lynn of Rockford, Ill., third.

Men's defending champion Gary Visconti of Detroit, who was edged by Wood of Bloomfield, Mich., and third-place finisher John Petkevich of Great Falls, Mont., for the men's team.

Cynthia and Ron Kauffman, the brother-sister combination from Seattle, Wash., won the pairs championship and made the teams along with Sandi Sweltzer, Roy Waglein, Jo Jo Starbuck and Kenneth Shelley, all of Los Angeles.

Citizens for Peace Started by Douglas

WASHINGTON (AP)—The idea for the Citizens Committee for Peace with Freedom in Vietnam began in the head of 75-year old Paul Douglas who, after 18 years in the U.S. Senate, lost his seat to Charles H. Percy in the Illinois election of 1966. It's a distinguished committee whose members include former Presidents Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower, General of the Army Omar Bradley, two former secretaries of State, Dean Acheson and James F. Byrnes, scientists, educators, historians, journalists, businessmen and clergymen.

The idea for the committee had its roots in the 1930s when Douglas, a Quaker and then a pacifist, stood in Rome and listened to Benito Mussolini announce war on little and practically defenseless Ethiopia in Africa.

Douglas' pacifism began to melt as he began to realize that unless checked, Fascism and Nazism, both of which subordinated individual and national freedoms to their purpose, would overrun Europe. With Ed- rome gone, he wondered how the United States could stand alone, for this country at that time was isolationist.

He returned to his teaching job as professor of economics at the University of Chicago and later joined a group, organized by William Allen White, called the Non-Partisan Committee for revision of the Neutrality Law.

The Committee's propaganda was a big factor in swinging public opinion behind repeal of the law which banned shipment of arms to Europe. Douglas at age 50 volunteered for the Marines as a private. He came out of the war a lieutenant colonel after service in the Pacific where one of the two wounds he suffered left one of his arms almost helpless.

In 1948 he was elected to the Senate. He was one of the best and sturdiest liberals the Senate ever had. He had been for Social Security long before it became a fact in the 1930s. And if the Senate, among other things, he plugged for Medicare long before that became a fact.

This seems a fair way to state his views about men and nations. Nations must be allowed to work out their own destiny, the freedom of individuals is precious and must be preserved; peace is necessary; but the aggressive expansion of communism must be stopped.

When he left the Senate he took a part-time teaching job in New York; became chairman of the board of trustees of Freedom House, a non-partisan organization devoted to strengthening free institutions here and abroad; and early last year was appointed by President Johnson chairman of the newly-created Commission on Urban Problems. But he was bothered by the vision in America over the war in Vietnam. He supported this war against communism, just as he supported the war against communism in Korea.

He was worried about the extreme positions being taken on both sides on the present war. And he wondered how to reach the great mass of people in the center with a reasonable presentation of the facts. He thought of a committee like the William Allen White committee in the 1930s.

He wrote his views to a number of people and got a hearty response. The result was the present committee of people who share his views. Various members of the committee have a hand in writing the statements issued by the committee. This is particularly true of Eisenhower. So far it has issued only two statements: one describing its policy and the other, last week, its support of continued bombing.

Ironically the latter, full of rubbery language, was like a bowl of mush. The committee is not likely to be much benefit to public thinking until it learns to state its positions precisely, clearly and unequivocally.

Ronald Reagan

Actor, liberal union leader, conservative governor of a key state—so runs the script for the most amazing career on today's political scene. Here, in an NEA News Visuals Special, are highlights of Ronald Reagan's progress from celluloid hero to presidential possibility.

SMILING REAGAN entered politics happy and confident, but expression soon changed. At right he answers newsmen about reports of a homosexual ring in his administration.

THEN AND NOW photos show boyish grin in early studio portrait, left; maturity in recent news shot, right.

ROMANCE with Jane Wyman started with their appearance together in "Brother Rat"; led to marriage, top photo. In 1940; ended in divorce. Marriage to socialite-netsess Nancy Davis was in 1952 with actor William Holden and wife, netsess Brenda Marshall, as attendants.

WORLD WAR II saw Reagan an Air Force captain.

PRESIDENT REAGAN—of Screen Actors Guild, that is—listens to testimony at 1947 House Un-American Activities Committee hearing.

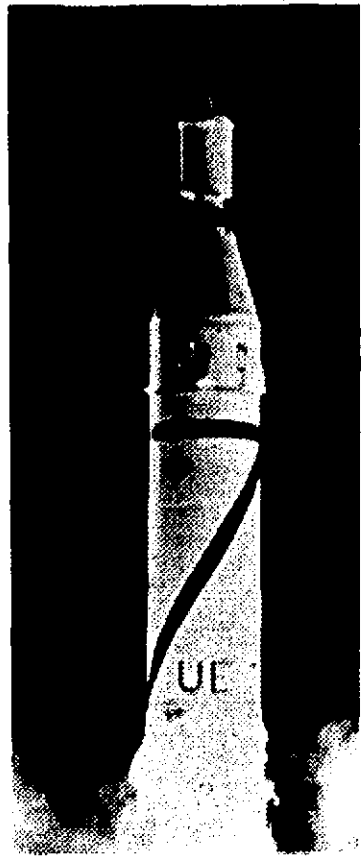

HERO'S WELCOME was given Reagan when he appeared at campaign headquarters after beating incumbent Gov. Edmund (Pat) Brown in 1966.

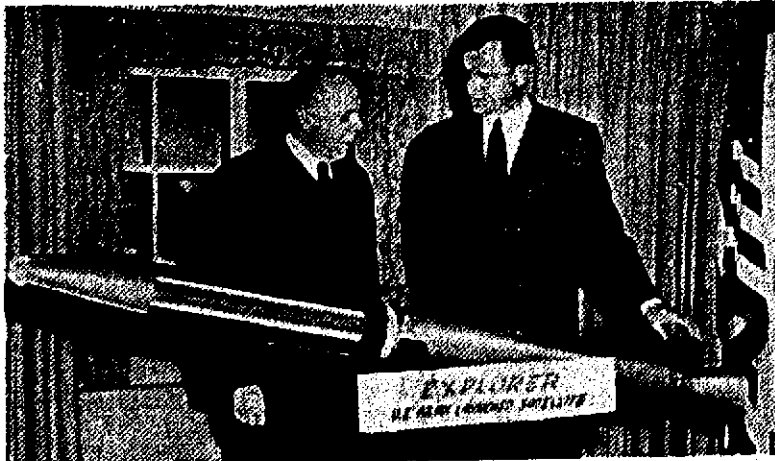

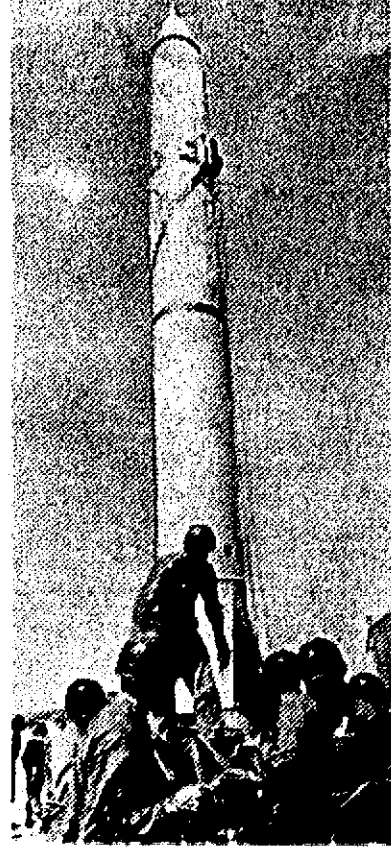

MOVIES AND TV placed Reagan in many roles including, from the left, a Russian major; an alcoholic; and a U.S. Cavalry officer.

Explorer I Celebrates 10th Anniversary

Explorer I prototype is examined shortly after memorable launch by then Secretary of the Army Wilber Brucker, left, and Sen. George A. Smathers. Man-made moon was sent aloft from Cape Canaveral, now Cape Kennedy, Fla.

Still going 'round in circles, Explorer I has surpassed predicted life expectancy and NASA officials anticipate it will remain in orbit for about two more years. Sketch indicates number of satellites now in earth orbit. Additionally, there are 26 deep space probes—14 U.S. and 12 Russian. Explorer leads the pack, earlier Sputniks having decayed.

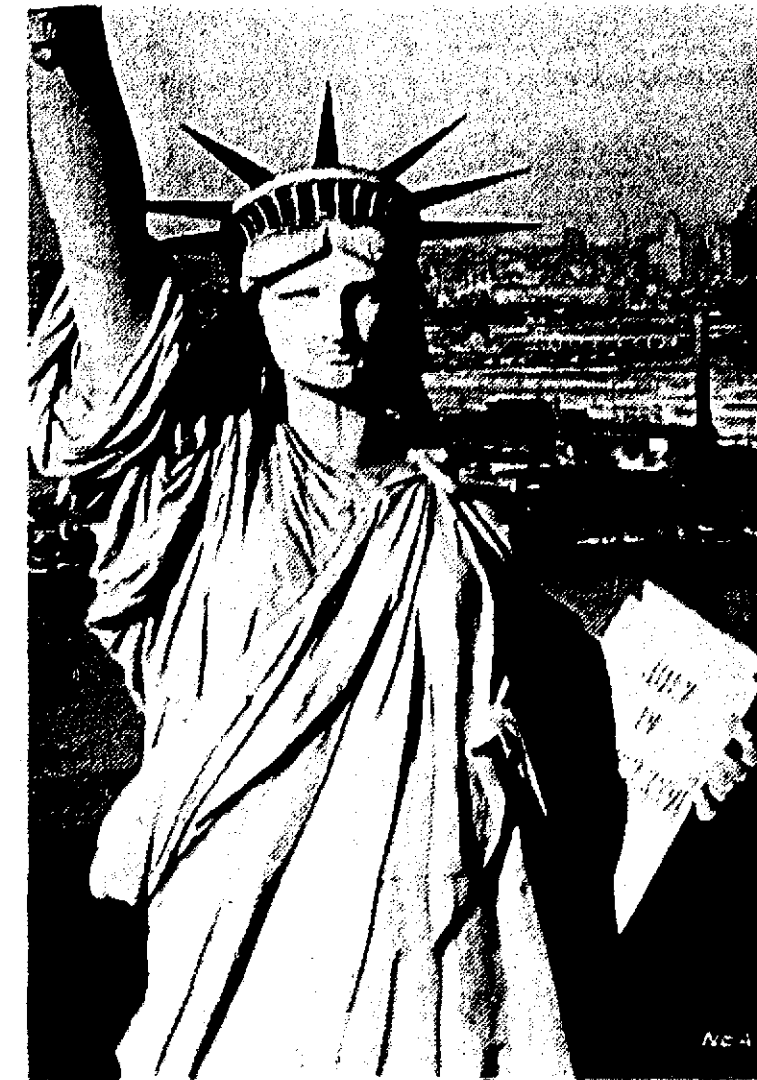

SATELLITES NOW IN ORBIT

Technician uses ultrasonic probe on stainless steel nose cone of the Explorer satellite. The vibrator was used for final testing of the nose cone's wall thickness. Machinist in background turns out cones for use on subsequent earth orbiters.

NOT A FLYING CAR, but the Russian Maxl under a Soviet TU-104 aircraft in Moscow. The new auto has sliding doors enabling the occupants to enter or leave in the tightest of parking spaces. Back seats fold into a bed.

STRIKING PHOTO of New York's Statue of Liberty shows line detail in the 82-year-old symbol of freedom. The "Lady" wears 200,000 pounds of copper sheeting and stands 151 feet tall. The French gift to the United States was the creation of Frederic Auguste Bartholdi.

Disabled Support Program Broadened

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA Publications

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—When you put aside the matter of newly enacted higher Social Security cash benefits, it is in the disability field that the program has shown its most pronounced expansionist tendencies.

Disability under this law means you are unable to "engage in any substantial gainful activity."

A few years back, the requirement was loosened somewhat, so you could begin collecting disability benefits if you could demonstrate a disability which has lasted 12 months, is expected to last that long, or expected to result in death.

Normally, also you must have Social Security eligibility, which in this instance means having worked five of the 10 years before you became disabled.

Now, however, if you are disabled before age 31, you can qualify for benefits with less work—down to a minimum of one and a half years.

That is not the only recent liberalization.

Under 1967 amendments to the law, a widow whose husband has worked long enough under Social Security to have qualified for retirement benefits can herself be eligible for monthly payments as early as age 50 if she is severely disabled.

To qualify, her disability must have started before or within seven years of her husband's death. Her payment ranges from 50 per cent to 82 and one-half per cent of her are these men, selected by the United States Jaycees as America's Ten Outstanding Young Men of 1967. Honorees are George F. Bass, 35, Philadelphia, Pa., underwater archeologist; Hugh F. Downey, 26, Kansas City, Mo., international relations humanitarian; Lt. Cmdr. Frank K. Ellis, 34, Orange Park, Fla., amputee on active Navy duty with NASA; Dr. Alexander Gottschalk, 35, Chicago, director of research to use nuclear energy for treatment of disease; Donald J. Greve, 34, Oklahoma City businessman, missionary and civic leader; Nicholas Johnson, 33, Washington, D.C., Federal Communications commissioner; Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, 35, Massachusetts, youngest member of the U.S. Senate and sponsor of important legislation; Dr. Paul D. Parkman, 35, Kensington, Md., developer of measles vaccine; Rep. Donald W. Riegle Jr., 29, Flint, Mich., credited with contributing new approaches for solving current governmental problems; and James A. Skidmore Jr., 35, Berkeley Heights, N.J., executive recognized for helping others solve community problems here and abroad.

husband's primary retirement benefit, depending upon her age at the time of her entitlement to the new disabled widow's benefits.

Persons who resume working despite disability can go on drawing benefits during a "trial work period" that may last as long as nine months. Once it is clear you are no longer disabled, you still can get benefits for three more months.

If you should become disabled a second time, you can start drawing benefits quickly, provided that the new disability arises within five years after the previous one ended, and the new handicap is expected to last at least a year or to result in death.

The size of disability benefits depends on the worker's average earnings under Social Security. He gets what he would otherwise draw upon retiring at age 65, even though the disability payment may come to him at any age under

65. Thus the newly authorized higher retirement benefits, effective with March 2, 1968, checks, will be directly reflected in higher disability payments.

The wife of a disabled worker also qualifies for a benefit if she is at least 62, or if she has in her care a child under 18 or a child disabled before 18. Such youngsters themselves are also eligible for benefits, as is any child of a disabled worker who is under 22 and still in school.

The wife draws one-half a disabled worker's benefits. She does each child. But, unless she has an under-18 child or a disabled child in her care, her benefits will be reduced a little if she applies before age than two million Americans are receiving benefits because of the disability of the family breadwinner. With the newly liberalized provisions of the law, particularly those affecting disabled widows as young as 50, this total can be expected to rise in 1968 and beyond.

Social Security specialists are thinking, too, about the advisability of protecting workers against shorter term disability by dropping the present requirement that the handicap must be expected to last at least 12 months. No early decision is looked for, but such a liberalization clearly would expand materially the already expansionist disability field.

'The Comedians'-- Civil Rights Opus

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) Mid all the talk about how daring "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner" is—with its interracial love story—another film which has civil rights significance has been curiously overlooked.

That film is "The Comedians." And Raymond St. Jacques, the superb Negro actor who appears in it with Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton, thinks it is more important, from the standpoint of its significance.

"I'm the heavy in it," St. Jacques says. "And I'm a unqualified heavy—brutal, sadistic, no redeeming virtues at all. To me, that's a bigger step forward. The fact that I can beat up an old lady like Lillian Gish means more to the cause of civil rights, I think, than does 'Guess Who's Coming to Dinner.'"

St. Jacques is not a militant in civil rights matters, yet he feels that more progress should—and could—have been made in Hollywood in that area.

"Sure there's been some progress," he says, "but not as much as there should have been. They hired me as a regular on Rawhide but then didn't have the courage to use me very much. We would all ride in to town and the rest of them would go into the bar but I'd excuse myself and stay with the herd."

"And I think it's outrageous that they haven't done anything to build more Negro stars. People like James Earl Jones—a fine actor—and Diana Sands—one of the greatest actresses in the world, bar none—should be built up. But they do nothing."

St. Jacques just did a part in John Wayne's "The Green Berets," and he enjoyed it. He even enjoyed working in the South—most of it was filmed in and around Ft. Benning in Georgia—more than he expected to. He's from New Haven, Conn., and this was the first time he'd ever been in the Deep South.

"I had anticipated trouble," he says. "I asked for two armed guards. But I got there and they were all very polite and pleasant and there was no trouble at all."

"In a way, I find Southern bigots better—they'll say, 'Nigger, you're not wanted here.' You know how to deal with it. But these Southern California bigots, they're tough—they smile at you and then knife you."

For the Oscar award, it looks like a fight between "Bonnie and Clyde" and "Heat of the Night."

Best actress? Most likely it's Faye Dunaway.

Best actor? Rod Steiger, but it's no runaway.

Harry Koplan, who heads up Screen Gems' game show department, sees signs that television is turning back to game and quiz shows. He thinks the fact that Hollywood Squares went nighttime is a turning point.

Screen Gems—a part of Columbia—is the only major studio to have a game department. It is a little over a year old and so far the only show they have is the syndicated "The Perfect Match." But Koplan has 12 in various stages of development.

Screen Gems is headed by Jackie Cooper, and Koplan says that Cooper—who has played most of the televised games in the past—works with them in testing the games.

Koplan is a former MC himself—and he's married to one-time Miss America Rosemary LaPlanche—so he knows the field outside-in. Koplan believes the day isn't too far away when we'll have those big money quizzes back. The networks are still wary of them, but they are thinking about them, too.
